2.2 Company Ownership

The company shareholders will own Capita Financial Services Limited. However, the shareholding structure will be determined by the number of shares held by each shareholder.

3.0 Services

Capita Financial Services Limited is a finance service company that offers consumer loans specifically for SME's MSME's, Corporates and individuals. In addition to the solid financial offering, CFSL has developed a set of models that makes her product offering competitive, timely and flexible.

As mentioned earlier, businesses and individuals are usually in need of a bridge finance pending receipt of receivables; hence, CFSL recognizes that there is value to be added in lieu of this, and simply proposing to fill this void.

CFSL has developed a comprehensive set of unique, competitive and market disrupting products and models across the needs of consumers. These services include:

- Salary Advance
- Bridge Finance
- Personal Loan
- Business Loan
- Invoice Discounting
- LPO Finance
- Auto Loan
- Asset Finance
- Overdraft Facility
- Bank Guarantee
- Proof of fund
- Advisory services

All of these products have been analyzed in line with the needs and benchmarked alongside existing products in the market. These needs have however been largely under-catered for by existing competition in the market.

CFSL takes into cognizance these shortcomings and has developed competitive and market disruptive products in lieu of the listed services.

4.0 Market Analysis Summary

Capita Financial Services Limited has identified two distinct groups of the niche market. These two groups of customers are distinguished by their peculiarities. They have been grouped as Corporates and Individual employees. The main characteristic that makes both of these groups so attractive is their desire to access a bridge finance pending the receipt of their receivables.

The financial service industry focuses on varying market niches. While some financial companies provide general lending services, others just offer one type of funding. However, CFSL focuses on the comprehensive and holistic financial needs of her market niche, thereby becoming a one-stop shop for all the finance needs of the customer.

4.1 Market Segmentation

CFSL has segmented the target market into two distinct groups. The groups can be differentiated by their difference in needs and behavioural pattern:

Corporates: These customers are businesses who have receivables spanning across 45 to 60 days, but are however in need of quick funding to augment their working capital pending the receipt of the receivables.

The categorizations of these customers are usually the Corporates - MSME's and SME's. Typically their needs are guided by an underlying contract with the employer for payment after invoicing or supply. The CFSL solution is to bridge the working capital gap in lieu of the receivables in such a flexible, timely and competitive manner. Other product available to this group within the CFSL suite include Business loan, Contract finance, Asset finance, Bank Guarantee, LPO finance among others.

Individuals: These customers are the middle to upper middle class. They are typically employees who are in need of a bridge to cater for a personal need pending the receipt of salary by month end or pay day. Product available to this group within the CFSL suite include Personal loan, Asset finance, Proof of fund, Auto loan among others.

Some characteristics that are shared by both target segments include:

- They are typically in need of a bridge finance.
- They usually have receivables within a given period.
- They are sensitive to competitive rate and pricing.
- Timeliness of transaction is key for them.
- They are lovers of flexible terms and minimum documentation.

Table: Market Analysis

Potential Customers	Growth						CAGR
Individuals	15%	1,000.00	1,150.00	1,322.00	1,520.00	1,748.00	15%
Corporates	10%	550.00	555.00	610.00	671.00	738.00	10%

Chart: Market Analysis (Pie)

4.2 Target Market Segment Strategy

CFSL has chosen the previously mentioned target market segments because of the ideological beliefs and the fact that these beliefs translate into the customer groups needing services that CFSL can provide. While the customers can always access consumer loans from existing competition, the downside is that they are usually lacking in flexibility, riddled with astronomical pricing and offered with poor turnaround time.

Therefore, CFSL has chosen these specific customer segments because it is a market group that has been largely underserved.. These groups have the need and demand, yet available choices are limited.

CFSL has chosen to distinguish the two market segments by their peculiarities since this characteristic provides useful behavioral information regarding the different people and in turn match their peculiar needs and demands with her market disrupting products.

4.3 Service Business Analysis

CFSL intends to play big in the financial service industry. Broadly, the financial services industry in Nigeria caters for a wide range of people and companies across multiple-layers. Hence, there are varying credit facilities offered including but not limited to:

- Term loan
- Overdraft facility
- Mortgage loan
- Personal loan
- Asset finance
- Business loan

Service providers across board in the industry cater to these needs, including:

- Commercial banks
- Microfinance banks
- Finance Houses
- Co-operatives

However, buying decisions are often based on pricing, flexibility and timeliness. Most of the service providers provide a similar catalogue of loan options.

More so, the fee structures vary from firm to firm. While some financial institutions charge their fees in percentage and based on the amount and type of fund the customer is availed, some charge one-off fees or even waives charges entirely.

4.3.1 Competition and Buying Patterns

CFSL has no direct competitors that offer these competitive product offering or services. All of the current consumers lending options in Nigeria are limited in this regard.

Other competitors that CFSL faces are the typical range of Fintech within the financial service institutions. However, while these direct competitors provide customers with a wide range of consumer loan options, they are usually lacking in competitiveness of their pricing.

5.0 Strategy and Implementation Summary

CFSL will leverage its sustainable competitive edge of pricing, flexibility and timeliness based on a custom set of criteria based markers for an objective measure of a corporate or individual. The competitive edge will be marketed by using the mantra of "Cheap cash at your fingertips"

This marketing slogan will re-emphasize that fast, cheap and flexible consumer loans are possible. The sales campaign will rely on metrics that indicate this type of loans are possible and can outperform the available options.

5.1 Competitive Edge

CFSL competitive edge is the pricy marker criteria that when applied indicates the solid buyer consciousness and commitments of our product offering. The markers are effective and extremely valuable for several reasons:

- Rate: They are competitive based on extensive research, providing a key component for the financial performance of the company.
- Timeliness: Allows a high degree of quick turnaround time beyond industry standard.
- Flexibility: Far easier to use conditions and terms than other institutions.

The key here is the fact that a flexible, competitive rate and timely service has been developed to provide a bridge for any company or individual that has the markers applied to them.

5.2 Marketing Strategy

"Cheap cash at your fingertips" This well-known and concise mantra simply suggests speed, flexibility and competitiveness which are the key component of CFSL. These are the driving tenets of the CFSL concept and are sacred and non-negotiable.

The marketing effort will concentrate on CFSL ability to enable the target category to access flexible, timely and competitive consumer facility whilst meeting their needs. CFSL will use community based marketing (networking, sponsorship and market clusters) to increase her visibility. The marketing will be in such a steady way that people will become aware of the consumer loan options as well as some visibility for the company itself.

The community involvement implicitly accepts the premise that good business relies on networking (inter relationships, both business and personal) to be a significant source of business and good will. CFSL will participate in numerous on-topic events and seminars that will display them as experts as well as give them a podium to describe the different and market disrupting services.

5.3 Sales Strategy

The sales strategy will rely on using the unique selling proposition to create awareness about the existence of the product and services. CFSL will not only allow the market niche to cut cost on existing options but will also ensure an upgrade on available options. A sales packet will be assembled and distributed to prospective customers that show the unique selling proposition and product offering.

5.3.1 Sales Forecast

The sales forecast is being done in a conservative fashion to avoid any inflated expectations that might not be able to be obtained. The first several months will be slow.

CFSL has projected steady, incremental growth in sales. This can be explained as a function of the increased proficiency in terms of sales for CFSL as well as an increased awareness of the services and product offering by the target customers. Please review the following table and chart for numerical and graphical representations of the future year's sales forecasts.

5.4 Milestones

CFSL has identified several milestones which will act as ambitious yet achievable goals for the organization. By establishing the goals, the need to reach them will develop an implicit incentive for all organizational members to work hard to achieve the milestones.

- Business plan completion: The business plan is the roadmap for the organization. There is value in the process of the writing of the business plan, forcing the writers to analyze a multitude of issues.
- First account of over ₦1 million availed: This would be a significant amount of money for an individual or corporate account and the organization will strive to achieve many of these customers.
- Profitability: An eventual necessity.
- Revenue of ₦50, 000,000: With the achievement of this milestone and the previous one, there will be a clear reaffirmation that the business model is successful.
